

Noahidism is the end of Christianity

[Notice the “PS” added at the end!]

There is today a worldwide endeavor for taking control over non-Jewish religions, above all Christianity, and for acknowledgment in the population of and commitment to the noahide laws to subjugate to them as general jurisdiction. At a first glance, these laws may appear relatively unproblematic, but the major stumbling block would be the prohibition of idolatry since this would round the back actually forbid Christianity! Because the instigators of this endeavor declare the worship of Jesus or Christ as idolatry! Jesus, they say, is not a god, but he was a human... The same would then apply for Mohammed and for all pagan forms of belief, especially for Hinduism but also for Buddhism and, among others, the Norse Ásatrú and Celtic religions.

Furthermore, the prohibition of blasphemy could too inconsiderately be abused against critique and deviating opinions in a way similar to acting against displeasing remarks through branding them as racist, hate speech or agitation only because they are not considered “politically correct” and one can thus withdraw from checking facts and truth.

Behind this endeavor is an increasingly spreading Hassidic-Jewish organization Chabad Lubawitch, in its present form initiated by Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, and obviously also Zionism. Today one behind the backs of humanity seeks the recognition as far as possible of all nations and governments to turn this into official law and punish offences against it. This would then become a secret takeover of the whole population in this respect, irrespective of belief or religion, Jewish or not ... See Uniting the United Nations with Seven Noahide Laws.

I have a high esteem for Judaism and its several branches: Ashkenazim, Sephardim, Hassidim and other forms of this belief. A special movement is Zionism that will rather be a political movement than a religion since also people with a deviating religious belief, even agnostics, profess at least support of this movement. Its goal was, in the first place, reestablishment of the State of Israel, which was realized in 1948. Today this is more about Greater Israel, Eretz Israel HaSchlema („the land Israel restored“), a land extending from the Nile to Euphrates and from Turkey into Saudi Arabia: “Greater Israel”: The Zionist Plan for the Middle East. To this area belong today Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and parts of Iraq and Egypt as well as a large part of Saudi Arabia, countries where since many years wars are being fought – to clear areas for expansion? For this reason I, like many Jews too, have less respect for Zionism, cf. Debunking the myth that anti-Zionism is antisemitic and Jewish Antizionism. Since many Jews are against Zionism, they would otherwise be anti-Semitic Jews!

Non-Jews are commonly called goyim (literally “cattle”). What is the attitude to them in Judaism and then especially in Zionism? Who would like to be informed about this may, i.e., read Goyim Were Born Only To Serve Us and Sephardi leader Yosef: Non-Jews exist to serve Jews. But such extreme views are probably shared by a minority. In relation to noahidism, which is in the focus here, I add a few quotations from a book Kabbalah and Meditations for the Nations von Rabbi Yitzchak Ginsburgh (Gal Einai Institute, 2007), cf. Noahide Laws = The End of Christianity.

“For example, the major religion of the Western culture believes in an individual Jew and worships him as god. This is certainly a great transgression of the most fundamental of the Bnei Noach commandments, the commandment that forbids idolatry.”

“A non-Jew can also strive to manifest the characteristic properties of the sefirah of acknowledgement. To fully identify with spiritual acknowledgement and sincerity, then Ben or Bat Noach must complete the semi-conversion process and become a righteous gentile. This includes not only accepting the seven Laws of Bnei Noach but also acknowledging the unique role of the Jewish people and the dependence of all mankind on them succeeding in their mission. This realization motivates to do all in his power to aid God’s chosen people in their Divinely ordained role.”

“Moreover, it should be absolutely clear that any non-Jew who seeks to become a righteous gentile committed to the seven Laws of Bnei Noach cannot define himself or herself as a member of any other religion. A righteous gentile is entirely devoted to the authenticity and truth of the Torah so that he or she can reveal the God of Israel to the entire world. This also means recognizing the Jewish people—Bnei Yisrael—as God's chosen people and His nation of priests.”

“It is the sacred duty of every religious leader to enlighten and awaken the hearts of his followers to abandon the erroneous beliefs they have inherited from their forefathers to undertake to follow the path of the forefathers.”

These quotations tell a lot about the belief dictatorship at work here! They reveal the intention of mindset slavery.

As concerns Christianity this is rather about the Church’s version of it, which is a falsification of the original Christianity. True Christianity can only be what Jesus, as a messenger of Christ, taught himself from which as time went on the so called Gnostic Christianity evolved. Since, however, Jesus talked about things that humanity was not supposed to know, Yahweh had him eliminated through crucifixion. About this I wrote in my study of The Origin of Evil. It is therein also written about Yahweh that he is not the true creator God, who is El Elyon. Yahweh is himself created, but that we should not know because he pretends to be the real creator himself and thus is a usurper who brought Paul to rewrite original Christianity to a fake version that then became the “Christianity” of the Church. When Jesus in John 8:31-47 talks about his “father” he does not mean Yahweh but the primal creator El Elyon who is above Yahweh.

When in relation to the noahide laws “God” is mentioned, one obviously refers to the god to which Judaism professes who is Yahweh and also the god of the Church variety of “Christianity” even though in another manner.

It is interesting that Chabad and Christianity have been stated to be rather equal: Chabad And Christianity Nearly Identical, Convert Said. Lately it has also become known that Moshe Zalmanovitch, the son of the founder of the first Chabad, Rabbi Shneur Zalman (1745-1812) of Liadi, Russia, converted to Catholicism in 1820! See Son of Chabad Movement's Founder Converted to Catholicism and The Rebbe's Christian Son. One wants to explain this as because he would have been “mentally unstable” ...

If now the Chabad approaches Christianity a bit, albeit the “Christianity” of the Church, this could arouse a certain hope. But that “Christianity” is not the original version that has been rediscovered through a library of original texts found in Nag Hammadi (Egypt) in 1945. An approach to Catholicism would then go in a rather wrong direction. It is Christianity itself that needs a revival through return to its hitherto hidden roots!

For such a return one would have to deal with these texts not only as a study of history of religions, but so as to embrace the actual spirit of Gnostic Christianity that was silenced even before a Church was established. An outstanding performance in this direction is the work by the Spanish scholar Antonio Orbe (1917-2003) in his book Cristología Gnóstica, Biblioteca de Autores Cristianos, Madrid, 1976, in two volumes.

One is yearningly expected that the Messiah will come. For the Chabad he could be a reincarnation of Rabbi Schneerson (allegedly there are hopes about this in the Chabad), but it would in any case be a first-time epiphany that would occur as soon as building the temple is finished. For the Christian it would be the return of Jesus. However if Jesus, as is my view, was not an incarnation but a messenger of Christ it could be a new messenger. It is said that before Christ comes, Antichrist will come. In that case the one yearned for today would rather be the latter! Only then can the real Christ come, or his messenger.

References:

Do read:

The Tyranny of the Noahide \(Noachide\) Laws

The Sinister Purpose of the So-called Noahide Laws

<http://www.occidentaldissent.com/2019/10/24/e-michael-jones-the-deception-facing-the-church-by-christian-zionism/>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1QMHzuVnO5k>
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FYgCNFViwPw>
<https://www.bitchute.com/video/IGD2V3HDZHo/>
<http://www.israelnationalnews.com/News/News.aspx/90646>
<https://youtu.be/SOxfzq20BSY>

PS

Global Push may be on to force people to accept the occult Seven Noahide Laws

Ever since President Bush, Sr., signed a law committing the United States to support the Noahide Laws, the Illuminati has quietly been active pushing the Biblical 10 Commandments off center stage so they can bring in the Satanic Noahide Laws. The threat to all Gentiles is huge! Do not be fooled!

Noahide Law and the New World Order

Rabbi Yitzhak Ginsburg says he knows in the near future the Land of Israel is about to expand. "It is our duty to force all mankind to accept the seven Noahide laws, and if not — they will be killed."

AMERICAN HOLOCAUST and The Coming NEW WORLD ORDER

So WHEN Will the NOAHIDE LAWS Be Activated And Guillotines Be Used in America?

Now the fog over the information landscape thins out a bit... there is obviously a relationship between the New World Order and Zionism! Under the pretty word "globalization" it is above all a matter of Yahweh as the one god and of one Religion – above is indicated which one – as means to the end for achieving world domination... Above all power, by whatever means (which are secondary)...

In Tzfat (Israel) a controversial orthodox woman lives, Doreen Ellen Bell-Dotan, who in a rather pretentious way presents her more or less self-brewed theology in the Internet (see a.o. Genesis). From that I briefly summarize as follows.

"The God of Israel is the Creation of Israel. It was our progenitor who came up with the idea of instead of being lost in a world in which people were serving competing gods and had to proficiate each one of them, and that their interests conflicted with one another, and you never knew which god wanted what from you ... let's conglomerate all those in one God who is benevolent. That was the Jew's gift to the world. This God is not the God of the Christians. The God of the Christians is a God that can be challenged by an evil force."

If a god can be an invention, then that would be this "conglomeration" of all gods... A god that does not reveal himself but would be the imagination of a progenitor (Abraham?). A god who himself appears to be an evil force (see A Study about the Origin of Evil), as the many sadistically blood-dripping pages of the Old Testament witness (page after page with wars and genocides, slaughtering up to the last human and even the last child). He is then the challenger himself and not the one challenged.

If there are or were several gods, they will have to have been created by a creator and then at the very start a primary creator: El Elyon. He is the first and the highest and in no way "conglomerated"... Thus a "conglomerated" god can never be the real God... It is furthermore almost blasphemous that a created being, especially a human, even if a progenitor, wants to put himself above God to "correct" his creation! To "conglomerate" "gods" according to his own idea, created by the Highest God (gods that are between him and the humans) ... is that not the very thing that, according to Bible texts, Satanael wanted to do? Should not these gods be there to let the humans have the possibility of a choice? To be able to choose and tread the corresponding path? Of course with all consequences...